THE COAL AND IRON INTEREST OF TENNESSEE. speech of Hon. William D. Kelley, on the Reciprocity Treaty, March

7th, 1866. THE RADICALS IN CONGRESS THE ONLY PRIENDS OF THE INDUSTRIAL INTERESTS OF THE COUNTRY.

The gentleman from Vermont [Mr. Morrill] says the quantity of coal cannot be increased. Allow me to say that I am speaking for no Pennsylvania not increase our production? Or will any gentle-man say that a duty of fifty cents is enough to pro-tect these embarrassed but important increas? I ask gentlemen to mark the fact, that though 465,-194 tons came in under the reciprocity treaty, free of duty, from her Provinces, Englad was still able to send in and pay $1 25 duty per ton, the enormous amount of 218,986 tons. It not appar-ent from these facts that we will binkrapt every bituminous coal company in the country if we pass this bill?

Do gentlemed say our demands a this hehalf are exception as that of England and the Prophess? I answer them in part by another question which is, do they wish the American miner to toi for the wages given to laborers in English collieries.

most all the uses to which it is now applied. Sir, coal and iron are the muscles of modern civilizaonquest over them. I query whether the result might not have been otherwise than it was.

And I may add that, had there been a well-stocked railroad from Moscow to the Rhine, Napoleon's retreat would have been marked by fewer horrors, and the history of the nineteenth century would not probably have read as it does. And if the Chairman of the Committee of Ways and Means desires to secure us a respectable posi-tion among the nations, he will not strike down, disparage, or neglect the coal and iron interests of the country, to subserve any interest of his own, his State, or section. They are the primordial elements week one century ago.

The power of those delicate people is not super-human; it is coal and iron that produces these more than magical results.

The gentleman doubts whether the production of coal can or should be stimulated, and is willing we should depend on our most powerful and our nearest enemies for this elemental substance. The country will not respond to such purblind patriotism. And the passage of this bill will reduce us to such abject dependen

In eleven months of 1865—I do not go back to 1864, but take the first eleven months of 1865, of last year-sixty-six per cent. of the bituminous coal consumed in the States east of Pennsylvania was mined by the laborers of Britain or of the British Provinces. Let me prove this. The amount of bituminous coal received at Boston and New York from the British Provinces, free of duty, to the 1st of December, 1865, was 392,158 tons. The amount of English coal received at the same points during We, the undersigned, Grand Jurors, for the coun-y of Jefferson at the April Term, 1866, of the livesit Count laying been requested by divers citlivered during the same period at the same points, was but 287,874 tons; balance in favor of foreign coal, 208,874 tons-one coal company in the British Provinces declaring dividends of one hundred and seventy-five per cent. in a year, and but one of the hundreds of companies in our country able to de-clare a dividend of one per cent., making a contrast so unfavorable to us that many of our enterprising people, as was shown yesterday by the gentleman from Maryland, [Mr. F. Thomas,] abandoned their country and embarked their capital in the coal regions of Nova Scotia. Can we strengthen our country by exporting enterprise, industry, and cap-

And is it not marvelous that such an exhibit against us can be made, in view of the facts that our bituminous coal-fields are so much broader and richer than those of England and Nova Scotia combined, and that we depend for the support of our Government and its credit upon taxes derived in great part from the forge, the furnace, the foundry, the railroad, the machine shop, the coal-bed, and iron mines? Are gentlemen willing to perpetuate the malign influence that has produced a state of Ordered that it is made the duty of our Foreman on onify, as far as practicable, the aforesaid delevelop our own resources, foster American labor, and guard our own interests. One effect of the reciprocity treaty has been to send to Canada one million five hundred thousand immigrants who, but for the advantages it gave the Provinces over us, would have swelled our population. Let us now, by taking care of our own people, induce them to come and share our burdens and blessings.

Section I. B.: if conced by the General Assembly of the State of Tenacesee, That the county site of Wayne county be removed from Waynesbore, the present county site of said county. A place on Indian Creek, in said county, known as Earbour Cave Spring—said spring being at or near the centre of said county. Provided, The Sheriff of said county shall open and hold an election in the same, after having previously given motice for one month of said election, by advertising the same in each civil district in said county. Provided further, That on the day of said election two places shall be in nomination, viz: Waynesbore and Harbour Cave Spring; and at said election those voting in favor of said removal will have written upon their tickets the words Cave Spring; those opposed to the removal will have written upon their tickets the word Waynesbore. Alf on the day of said election a majority of the qualified voters of said county cast their votes in favor of said removal, then said county seat shall be removed to said Cave Spring, as aforesaid. In the event of the removal of said county seat, John J. Porter, Esq., John Turneau, James M. Dickerson, James A. Lawson, Joseph Holt, John H. Grimes, King Prater, E. B. Huckeba, James Hinton and A. F. Philips, are hereby constituted Commissioners to select and lay off the ground upon which said county seat will be constructed. Provided, That the grounds selected shall not be more than three-quarters of a mile from the aforesaid Spring. Provided, That the court-house of no county the area of which is not less than eight hundred equare miles, shall be moved to any point nearer than twelve miles to the boundary line of such until said removal shall be first sanctioned by three-

AN OMITTED VERSE .-- On Ash Wednesday of this year, says the New Orleans Advocate, religious services were held in St. Paul's Protestant Episcopal Church of that city, on which occasion the officiating clergyman selected the fifty-ninth hymn, which was singularly appropriate to the day, but requested the congregation to omit the third verse, which was as follows:

'And can'st Thou, wilt Thou yet forgive, And bid my crimes remove?
And shall a pardon'd Rebel live
To speak thy wondrous love?"
